

Employment Law for Business Lawyers & In-House Counsel

Staying compliant and avoiding claims in a constantly-changing legal landscape

Business lawyers and in-house counsel often find themselves providing advice on labor and employment matters, preparing employment-related documents, and managing employment-related litigation. While the best course might be to hire a labor and employment law specialist, your client might not always have that option. You must be prepared to spot issues and provide fast, practical advice. This program helps you gain the knowledge to assist your business clients in avoiding employment law liability, staying compliant, and effectively managing and defending employment claims in a rapidly-changing legal landscape.

Agenda

- Leave Me Alone: New State Paid Family and Medical Leave Laws; Leave as a Reasonable Accommodation; FMLA Retaliation; and Wage and Hour Issues Arising from Vacation, PTO, Comp Time, and Other Time-Off Policies
- Discrimination Law Update: #MeToo Legislation and Its Impact on Resolution of Harassment Claims; Equal Pay; Bystander Intervention and Other New Approaches to Anti-Harassment Training; Changing Burdens of Proof; and Arbitrability
- Non-Competition, Non-Solicitation, and Trade Secret Protection; Drafting Decisions and Enforcement Considerations in Light of the New Statutes
- Ethical and Malpractice Traps in Employment Law: Waiver of Attorney-Client Privilege; Lawyers Providing Business Advice; Integrity v. Advocacy in Discovery; and Unauthorized Practice of Law

Mandatory CLE credits

Individual attorneys are responsible for checking with their particular state CLE accreditation authority about whether and how much credit will be granted. Although MCLE does not pursue state-based credit, MCLE programs are regularly approved in many jurisdictions. It is the responsibility of the individual attorney to submit the information and certifications required under the respective state rule to the appropriate authorities in the jurisdictions in which they seek credit.

Depending on the jurisdiction, lawyers can satisfy their mandatory CLE requirements online with MCLE's webcasts, which feature periodic attendance prompts, online written materials, and the opportunity to receive a certificate of attendance.

If your plans change

If you're unable to attend a program you've registered for, you will receive an email shortly after about how to access the program on demand via webcast and/or downloadable mp3 file, including the written materials in electronic form, in full satisfaction of the tuition paid. If you prefer a refund, let us know by the end of the business day prior to the program and we'll refund your tuition after deducting a $25 processing fee. Note that limited enrollment programs are an exception, cancellation of which require two weeks notice and are subject to a $45 processing fee.
